

Capital
Humane
Society

LINCOLN - NEBRASKA

“Within a day, the Humane Society had located the owners and the dog was reunited with its family,” Carl reports.

The Sjulins are fans and supporters of the Capital Humane Society. Carl notes, “It fulfills an important function in Lincoln.”

Renee adds, “It’s one of those things you have in a strong community. You usually think of hospitals and schools, but the Capital Humane Society is an important part of the infrastructure, too.”

Chance is completely devoted to Renee. When Renee leaves the house, Chance is crestfallen. He runs to the front window so that he can watch her go and remains there until she waves good-bye.

Chance is lucky to have the Sjulins...and so is the Capital Humane Society.

Carl and Renee Sjulins, with Chance

Photo courtesy of David Dale Photography

DISCOVER Your
MATCH

2320 Park Blvd. • 441-4488 • www.capitalhumanesociety.org